

Best Poster and Minute Madness Presentations (5)

Research Day recognizes research excellence in trainees and postdoctoral fellows. Posters are evaluated for overall design (layout, readability, organization) content and scientific merit (research questions, method, implications) and one-on-one with judges (knowledge of subject, clearly articulated response to questions). Awards of $250 are given for best poster in each group: Post-Doctoral Fellows, Doctoral Candidates, Masters Students and Undergrads.

The popular “People’s Choice Award” of $250 is also presented to the best Minute Madness presentation.
